Hawaii State Department of Education Selects Infinite Campus for its Statewide Student Information System

March 31, 2015 – Blaine, Minn. – Infinite Campus, the largest American-owned student information system (SIS) announced today that the Hawaii State Department of Education (HIDOE) chose Infinite Campus as its new student data management system. HIDOE, serving more than 180,000 students, joins more than 2,000 Campus districts across the country and becomes the sixth state to use Infinite Campus as its single solution.

“We are pleased that HIDOE selected Infinite Campus,” says Charlie Kratsch, Infinite Campus Founder and CEO. “Beyond the power of the SIS, HIDOE will benefit from more than 150 in-house developers who provide innovative product updates at no additional cost, an expert implementation team to guide the transition process and an award-winning support staff to be there when needed.”

HIDOE’s unique geographic and educational structure requires a partner with specific experience to meet the requirements of both a district and a state customer. Infinite Campus is the only vendor who has 1) developed an SIS in use by districts the size of HIDOE, 2) manages data for both districts and state departments of education and 3) has the proven ability to handle large district and statewide implementations on time and on budget.

For more than 20 years Infinite Campus has successfully implemented its solutions for customers of all sizes. Infinite Campus will allow HIDOE to streamline administrative processes, increase stakeholder collaboration and provide personalized learning. They will realize resource efficiencies and improved data management.

Infinite Campus and HIDOE join together with the similar vision of transforming public education. HIDOE intends to be fully implemented with a go-live date of July 2016.
